

Content-planning wireframes for the rogersskiandsport.com rebuild — every launch page from the August 5, 2026 specification, one document per page. Structure and copy direction follow the spec section by section; layout language follows the Nanmo ski template (display-type heroes, stat callouts, split section heads, rounded cards, staggered quote cards, pill controls) rendered strictly monochrome. Dashed CONFIRM tags mark the spec's nine open ownership decisions where they touch a page. These are content plans, not visual design.

Shared chrome, planned once: utility bar (both stores' live hours and click-to-call phones), header with two location dropdowns and the persistent Reserve Rentals button, and the four-column footer with newsletter band and text credential strip appear on every page and are annotated in full on the Home document. Later-phase pages (/journal/, /events/, /employment/, expanded /shop/) are reserved in the architecture and not wireframed here.

Purpose (spec §5): route visitors to the right store or straight to a reservation, and establish the shop's standing in ten seconds. SEO: title “Rodgers Ski & Sport | Ski, Bike & Boot Fitting — Lincoln NH & Scarborough ME”; Organization schema with both locations; sameAs to the three consolidated profiles.

UTILITY BAR + HEADER

Both stores at a glance: town, today's hours, phone — each click-to-call on mobile, each linking to its location page. Header: wordmark, seven nav items (two location dropdowns), persistent Reserve Rentals pill visually distinct at right.

SPEC / RATIONALE

Spec §2. Hours flow from the single Payload hours source. No competitor in the review set surfaces per-location hours site-wide. Reserve button placement follows Fitts/Jakob: big, persistent, where users expect it.

02

HERO — SEASONAL IMAGE + LOCATION ADVANTAGE

Headline built on the location advantage (spec example kept verbatim). Reserve Rentals primary CTA plus two store buttons. Nanmo-style oversized display type over the photograph; stat callouts carry the credential and review rating.
